Kathie Jankauskas is the owner of KJanStudio, a graphics and web design studio that provides award winning print and web-based marketing solutions for businesses in Bucks County and the Greater Philadelphia region. Whether starting from the beginning with a company logo design, or designing brochures, posters, and print collateral that resonate with your existing brand marketing, to developing a whole new website and social media graphics...KJanStudio energizes your print and web marketing collateral with compelling graphic design that will appeal to your future customers.

Kathie is an active member of the Lower Bucks County Chamber of Commerce, having served on the Board and chaired several committees. She is currently chair of the Women's Resource committee and a member of the Strategic Planning committee. She is also president of the Bucks County Networks, a member of Artsbridge, the New Hope Art League, and Graphics chair of the Phillips Mill Community Association Art Show.
